If, however, it be possible to discover any reasonable ground on which the justice of the demand can be impugned it would of course be well that it should be stated, as, although it would probably not secure any present reduction it might have some good effect in modifying or deferring any future increased demand. But what is of immediate practical importance is to see that the Colony gets al that it is promised in return for the increased contribution. The following despatch was laid on the table the Legislative Council yesterday afternoon: Downing Street.

20th January 1890. SIR.—Referring, to previous correspondence respecting the fortifications recently erected at Hongkong and their armament. I have now the honour to address you on the subject of the additional garrison required by those fortifications and on the incidence of its cost; matters to which Her Majesty's Government have given most anxious and careful consideration: 2.—You are aware that in 1884 it was arranged that the Colony should construct the works, and that the Imperial Government should provide the armament, of the proposed defences. The cost was then estimated as follows:---Works 55,625

I may almost say the existence, of the colony, and the welfare of this large population, depend upon the continuance and security of its trade with other places. If the trade is secure, the prosparity may be expected to continue and increase

The case, which is interesting in its progressive stages, was that of the steamer Sara, tried before Mr. Justice Butt, who held that the Master had a maritime lies on the vessel in priority to the mortgagees, and gave decision was upheld by the Court of Appeal, but when the case was afterwards carried to the House of Lords the judgment of the Court of to have arisen through this decision have subsequently been obviated by the passing of an ments properly made by him.

OPIUM SMUGGLING ON BOARD THE RIVER STEAMERS TO CANTON:

The representatives of the two steamer companies have addressed the Chamber on the above subject, and the difficulties which more particularly these two companies labour under owing to the abuses which have arisen out of the workng of the Opium Ordinance are fully explained in the annexed correspondence; and reports of rials. The facilities for smuggling it gives to those for whose benefit the Ordinance was originally framed, and the evils likely to arise from the unconditional return of all confiscated opium to the Farmer are also referred to. The almost unrestricted power of search which the Ordinance confers admits of general application, and carried out as it often is in an arbitrary manner by persons ill-fitted to be entrusted with such powers is becoming a menace to the integrity of Hongkong as a perfectly free port. An amending Ordinance is in course of preparation which will doubtless deal with these vexed questions. RATES OF POSTAGE BETWEEN ENGLAND AND

THE EAST. The matter of Postal charges has again had the attention of the Committee and has formed the subject of further correspondence with the London and other Chambers. The reduction of rates to the East and elsewhere finds a persiatently warm advocate in Mr. J. like ther industries, will be greatly overdone. The production in both India and Caylon increases annually, and at a much greater rate than the consumption; the esua is true of Japan; the leaf is now more largely cultivated in Jave, and several new competitors have recently phase d in the London market, among thembring Beji and Perak. In fact over production has already so cheapened this popular beverage that the highly taxed leaf of China is being gradually elbowed out of the principal markets The export from Foodhow especially has suffere ed a serious decline, as will be seen by the following figures : -

457,019.15 The export from Hankow also shows a decline so far as leaf ton is concerned, as will be apparent by the returns below : -

LEAP TRA. BRICK TRA. 1887 634,245.63 piculs. 237,861.67 piculs. At Canton the same story has to be told, only with more emphasis, the return of the export

Naturally the most heavily burdened article goes first to the wall and if the Chinese Goverument desire to save their tea trade with foreign countries they will be competled to abolish, and not merely reduce, the export duty. In no other, way can it stand a chance in th fierca competition with the scientifically grown teas of India and Ceylon. The Japanese have also to complain of a deoline in the tea trade, which a Tokyo paper ascribes to over production. The remedy, our Japanese contemporary arges, is to be found-in opening up fresh markets. The Japanese ten merchants have a practical monopoly of the United States market, but they intend pushing the sale of the leaf in both Canada and the States by improving the quality, packing, &c. Moreover, an effort is to be made to capture the Russian market, which hitherto has been sno 'ied by China. To this end the Japanese C n ca Guild propose that a Japan Tea Company s' ould be formed. This Company is to establish retail tes shops in the various large cities of Russia as well as of America, and it is pointed out by the can assist the enterprise in two ways; first, diplomatically by negotiating a reduction or in Ireland, was pressed to a division last night abolition of the duty on Japanese tea in return and rejected by a majority of sixty-seven votes for the removal of duty on kerosene in Japan; and secondly by granting subsidies to undertakings-calculated to increase the consumptionof Jupanose tea. The first idea is a rather shrawd one, and if suggested to the Russian Government not unlikely to be entertained. But it is more doubtful whether the Japanese can furnish a tea suitable to the Russian palate. The fact remains, however, that while the Chiness Government are considering whether they shall reduce the imposts on tea the Japanese are thinking seriously whether they cannot get the duties taken off in foreign countries, and acheming how to place their produce on fereign -markets at the lowest-price possible.— The Chi nese tea dealers and growers need to wake up in

TANG KIT v. DE SONNAVILLE.

This was an action for the recovery of $300. the balance of a building contract. Mr. Wilkinson appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. Bowles (of Messrs: Wetton and Descon's) the Parnellites and their allies. for the defendant:

Mr. Aviiklason said the case was a somewhat neculiar one. The defend int and a man named Charles Mouney purchased a piece of land at the Peak as tenants in common, and then entered into contracts with the plaintiff for the erection of two houses. There was no partition made at that time or since of this land, and both the defendant and Mr. Mooney were still re-ristered in the Land Office as tenants in common of this piece of land. There were in Paris in May. two contracts made, one between Mr. Mooney and the plaintiff and the other between the defendant and the plaintiff, but all the way through the plaintiff dealt with both parties during the building of the houses at the same The houses were completed a short time since. During the erection of the houses the plaintiff récrived payments by instalments in on India. alm at every case from the defendant, showing that he was fully awars of the contract which had been entered into with Mr. Mooney. On the completion of the houses the plaintiff rereceived payment in full of the sum due on both contracts with the exception of the $300 which he now claimed. There was no doubt that this sum might really be taken to be due on the contract entered into with Mr. Mooney, But it was equally clear that it was properly payable to the plaintiff for the work he had done in connection with these houses, and even supposing there were two separate contracts, so long as the defendant and Mr. Mooney remained tenants in common each tenant was liable for the cost of the improvements that had been made. It was a peculiar case, as he said before, and he had not been able to find any cases on the point, but he subuitted that it would be most unfair if his client should lose this sum of money. Mr. Mooney had become bankrupt and it was impossible for the plaintiff to get the $300 out of him, and therefore his only course was to sue Mr. de Sonnaville. If he paid the money no injustice would be done to him because he could at any time call upon the other tenant to pay.

Mr. Bowles said if Mr. Wilkinson admitted that the amount due under Mr. de Sonnaville's contract had been paid and that the $300 was due under the contract with Mr. Mooney, it was simply's matter for argument.

F. Wilkinson said his contention was that the $300 was due to his client in respect of the improvements made on this piece of land of which the defendant and Mr. Mooney were tenants in common. He would call the plaintiff to show that the work was done. Mr. Bowles said that was admitted.

A. Denison, architect, said he was the architect for the buildings in question. He believed there was $300 due to Tang Kit in respect of those buildings Cross-examined by Mr. Bowles-There were two distinct contracts, one with Mr. Sonnaville and the other with Mr. Mooney. IMPERIAL QUARTO.

DICTIONARY. WITH THE PUNTI AND MANDABIN PRONUNCIATION.

An Angle-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is for students of a most instructive nature. Both Chinese and English type correspond in the size

To illustrate the vast scope of the work the ollowing facts are submitted for consideration :---Chalmers' Vocabulary, contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst Messrs. Siemssen & Co..... this work contains more than 50,000 English LANE, CRAWFORD & Co. & by words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli-cations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples COGNAC-Their popular " 4 Star quality and this work, contains more than five times as

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested

It comprises upwards of two thousand large quarto pages.
